

2014 PARANORMAL AWARD WINNER

Raven's Run

A CYBERTECH THRILLER

"A patriotic rogue agent, RAVEN, is saved by JOSIE, a gentle woman with mystic powers. They face terrorists with Iranian nukes.

When Raven is terminated with prejudice by the government, they must work together to rediscover censored history, expose high treason, solve two historic assassinations, and prevent an apocalyptic attack that would destroy America."

Terrorists with Iranian Nukes

Genre: Paranormal
Global Thriller

ISBN:
978-0997805222

Retail: $23.95

Pages: 362

Published:
August 2014

Available From:
Ingram

Format: Hardcover

Other Formats:
Ebook, Audio,
Trade Paperback

REVIEWS

"A covert CIA mission gone sideways, a harrowing post-WWI transatlantic flight, and a research facility with "remote viewing" capabilities...bring us to the brink of an attack that would annihilate North America in this entertaining and suspenseful novel."

- CHANTICLEER REVIEWS

"When impeccable research, engaging prose, and a personal connection are fused into one narrative, the result is Raven's Run, a savory, thought-provoking historical thriller with a penchant to discuss events that are at the forefront of western democracy in the 21st century."

- US REVIEW OF BOOKS

JOHN D TRUDEL

John D Trudel has authored two nonfiction books and five Thriller novels: God's House, Privacy Wars, Soft Target, Raven's Run, and Raven's Redemption. He graduated from Georgia Tech and Kansas State, had a long career in high-technology, wrote columns for several national magazines, and lives in Oregon and Arizona.

WWW.JOHNTRUDEL.COM
ME@JOHNTRUDEL.COM

